

Mobility Agreement Federal Career Intern Program

The NASA Federal Career Intern Program is designed to provide a cadre of highly trained individuals to meet NASA's future mission needs. NASA is committed to the professional development of interns selected for this program. Participants are provided a combination of formal classroom training, extensive hands-on experience, and progressively more responsible job assignments to further professional development. Mobility is a key factor in the success of program participants.

Mobility is a condition of initial and continuing employment with NASA. The prospective employee must read and sign the mobility agreement below before entering on duty.

Failure to accept directed assignments involving travel or change of duty station may result in dismissal from NASA employment.

Interns will not be directed to accept a permanent change of duty station to any position at a lower grade level than that which they currently hold. Intern preferences will be considered in making assignment decisions, but interns are not guaranteed an assignment of their choice.

Authorized expenses associated with management directed travel or relocation will be paid by NASA.
